BIG VICTORY IN SIGHT

STATE COMMITTEE HAS MADE
CAREFUL INVESTIGATION
AND GIVES OUT STATE MENT.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 7.—The Democratic Campaign Committee gives out the following statement:

On the eve of the election, summing up carefully the reports from all over the state, we are of the opinion that the Republicans will not elect their entire county ticket in over two counties in the state. On the other hand, there are over forty-five counties in Oklahoma that will elect the entire democratic county ticket and will give large majorities to the democratic state ticket. The Democrats will have about eighty-five members of the next Legislature, and there is a strong probability that the Democrats will elect the five congressmen from Oklahoma. The Democratic majority for the state ticket will be extremely gratifying to the Democracy of the state.

Iowa Population Shows Decrease

Washington, Nov. 5.—The population of Iowa is 2,224,771, according to the enumeration in the thirteenth census, made public today. This is a decrease of 7,082, or .03 per cent, from 2,231,853 in 1900.

The increase from 1890 to 1900 was 319,572, or 16.7 per cent.

SHAWNEE COTTON MEN IN TROUBLE

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 5.—Upon a complaint sworn to by W. J. Williams one of the city detectives, Justice of the Peace R. F. Peden this afternoon issued a warrant for the arrest of D. V. Liddell, a former cotton broker of Shawnee, Ok. The allegation is that prior to Nov. 4, 1910, the said Liddell while in the employ of one John Doe in Pottawatomie county, Oklahoma, did embezzle $10,000 and that the said Liddell came to Texas from Oklahoma.

The arrest was first made last night by police officers, upon advices from Oklahoma authorities. Attorneys for Mr. Liddell this morning applied to the Sixty-Seventh district court for his release and, upon failure to show proper authority for the arrest, the police authorities were ordered to liberate the prisoner. He was immediately afterward taken into custody upon a warrant, issued this morning from Justice Peden's court, charging him with being a fugitive from justice, the hearing being set for Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Late this afternoon Mr. Liddell's attorneys applied in the Sixty-Seventh district court for habeas corpus proceedings, alleging that he is being illegally restrained of his liberty. These proceedings are also set for hearing on Monday.

George H. Culp of Gainesville, attorney for Mr. Liddell, stated today that a requisition would not be resisted, but that every privilege of the law will be invoked, since creditors of Mr. Liddell have charged him with a criminal offense. Continuing he said:

"We know that he is guilty of a criminal offense and Liddell was preparing to return to Shawnee last night to arrange for settlement with his creditors, but since they have taken this means of forcing his return we will fight the case. Liddell is nothing more than an insolvent cotton broker. He has been to Oklahoma City, Dallas and other places. He came to Fort Worth several days ago. He had determined to arrange for a settlement."

Sheriff E. Pearse of Pottawatomie county, Oklahoma, is expected here tomorrow.

TWO MORE FOOT BALL GAMES SCHEDULED

The normal football team is preparing to go up against the Weleetka team next Monday. There is little question about the Ada team being the stronger and better of the two. They lost the game at Ada through a little bad luck at critical points of the game, but expect to redeem themselves at the coming game.

The closing game of the year will be played at Ada on Thanksgiving day. The visitors will be the team from the Edmond normal. Those boys are good players and the Ada boys will have something to do if they beat them. The normal boys are fully aware of what they are up against, however, and are working hard in order to put up a good fight when the time comes. They have our best wishes and deserve the support and encouragement of the entire town.

VITAL STATISTICS FOR SEPT.

With a few counties missing, the report of the state health department shows a total of 2,230 births among the whites of Oklahoma during the month of September, and 49 negroes. During the same time there were 612 deaths of whites and 61 negroes. From Pontotoc county the report gives 43 births of whites and no negroes; nine deaths of whites and no negroes.

LEE CRUCE ADDRESSES ADA CITIZENS

BEGINS CLOSING DAY OF CAMPAIGN WITH TALK TO VOTERS OF PONTOTOC.

GREETED BY ENTHUSIASTIC CROWD

Makes Many Friends by His Straightforward Manner of Presenting the Principles of Democracy.

The final scene of the drama of the campaign of 1910 was enacted at the city hall this morning. Hon. Lee Cruce, standard bearer of triumphant democracy of Oklahoma delivered his farewell message to the voters. The city hall was well filled and the enthusiasm shown by the assembled Townsend and thence to the city hall. Mr. Cruce seemed to appreciate this little attention on the part of the boys and in thanking them stated that it was the first ride of the kind he had even taken, and it would give him pleasure to enjoy the same honor at their hands when he is inaugurated in January.

The Speech.

Mr. Cruce began his speech by thanking the people of Pontotoc county for their loyal support during two campaigns for the nomination. He assured his hearers that he deeply appreciated their support, and complimented them on the fact that they had remained true to the party and supported the ticket that was nominated in 1907, and the Murray and Ross men who were sup-ed every man to be on hand tomorrow.

Building a State.

He compared the building of this state to that of a city. Any town can make a great city if the people stick together and work with one accord. If forty per cent of the voters are to keep constantly at work trying to thwart the good work of the sixty per cent, failure must result. "Begin right tomorrow by voting for Lee Cruce," was the final advice in regard to advancing the interests of the state.

How Republican Platform Was Made.

He declared that the republican platform was made July 16 by a bunch of self appointed federal office holders and ex-office holders who consulted their own wishes in the matter and did not ask the advice of the rank and file of the party. It is the only standpat platform west of the Mississippi river and does not represent the views of the party in Oklahoma. It shows abject subservience to the special interests. There is not a grain of comfort for the progressives, but a most emphatic endorsement of Aldrich, Cannon and the tariff. He arraigned the leaders of the party for their attitude in securing speakers. They opened the campaign with Sherman, who has since been repudiated even in his own ward, Watson of Indiana, who was defeated for renomination by the progressives and Ballinger. Not a progressive speaker has come into the state, even Roosevelt passing around on all sides but never coming in and helping in the campaign. Clapp, Nelson, Cummings, Bristow and Hadley had all made excuses when asked to stump Oklahoma on the standpat platform.

He thought it rather peculiar that McNeal never refers to republican platform when he makes a talk, and that the party papers never refer to it any more than there were such a thing in existence. This is probably on account of the danger of driving the progressives away from the party at this very critical time.

McNeal's Three Arguments.

He declared that McNeal has but three points upon which he bases his campaign. First: abuse; second: election laws; third: arraignment of the democratic party on account of the taxes. Yet in the face of this, he offers no remedy.

Democratic Platform.

He said he is proud of the democratic platform. It is a beacon light of progress and good government, and as he regards a platform as a covenant with the people, would, if elected, use every effort to carry out every promise made in it. Among the differences in the two he pointed out the fact that the democratic platform contains a plank relative to consolidated rural high schools and other important things about education while the republican have nothing to say about it. The democrats propose that every district shall have as much as five months of school without resorting to local taxation, while the republicans have nothing to say.

McNeal and the Constitution.

McNeal was a bitter enemy to the constitution and opposed its ratification. He had opposed single statehood saying that the people of the Indian Territory were not capable of self government, and is it safe to entrust the enforcement of the constitution with a man like that?

McNeal and Corporations.

He severely arraigned McNeal for his connection with the corporations, especially in the capacity of bondsmen. He cited a number of instances where people have been denied their rights simply because the railroad had the money to wear the cases out and had McNeal handy to sign their bonds. He gave the lie to McNeal's statement that he, Cruce, had ever signed a bond for any railroad.

HISTORY WILL REPEAT ITSELF.

"Forty centuries look down upon your deeds," shouted Napoleon to his troops at the battle of the pyramids.
The eyes of the nation are turned towards Oklahoma in tomorrow's election, and unborn generations will read of the momentous day. It is not an ordinary battle, but one that will determine the standing of Oklahoma
for years to come. The mamelukes ruled Egypt with a rod of iron until Napoleon's troops annihilated them at the pyramids. The Republicans ruled Oklahoma for seventeen years
and the nation for half a century and their rule has been one marked with subservieny to the money power and corruption. This is the party thatruled and ruined the South after disfranchising the southern voters. It is the party that forced the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments down the throats of the southern people at the point of the bayonet.
This is the party that has fostered
the trusts and has created the aris-toeracy of wealth. This is the party that for years denied the people of Oklahoma the boom of statehood until the appeal to the commercial organizations of the country forced them to grant it. This is the party that attempted to perpetuate itself in power by shameless gerrymander of the districts of the constitutional convention and afterwards fought the constitution. This is the same crowd that for the past three years has given Oklahoma a bad name abroad by its shameless misrepresentation of the conditions existing here. The question before the people now is:
shall this party be returned to power? The dog may return to his vomit and the hog to his wallow, but the people of Oklahoma will not return to the party that has abused every trust placed in it by a confiding people. The battle of the pyramids will be repeated tomorrow and the result will be no less decisive. The wild cavalry led by Joe McNeal and the State Capital will suffer the same fate as that of the mamelukes when it throws itself against the solid ranks of the Democracy.

I am not as old as some who will cast their votes tomorrow, but I have lived long enough to see the political situation undergo some wonderful changes. It was a joyous time among Democrats in 1890 when the Democrats swept the nation from ocean to ocean, electing all but eighty-eight of the members of congress, sweeping out Joe Cannon and McKinley tariff law. I have not forgotten the enthusiasm with which we heard of Cleveland's election two years later nor the overwhelming defeat of the party in 1894. In 1896 we knew it was only a forlorn hope that Bryan was leading, but so remarkable was it that we were even hopeful towards the last that victory
might again perch upon the banners of the party. Since then I have seen in every national election a funeral for the Democratic party, until this year. Victory is practically assured, and once more democracy will come into its own in the councils of the nation. Only two more years until the party will enjoy another triumph equal to that of 1892. But greater than all Oklahoma is safe. Yes, I feel good and hope to feel even better two days hence when the votes will have been counted and the result announced.

The Democrat who undertakes to vote a mixed ticket had better be extremely careful. Any mistake in marking his ticket will result in having it thrown out. The law on mutilated ballots is very explicit.
Better stamp the circle under the rooster and let it go at that.

LIQUOR FORCES SEE DEFEAT AHEAD

It is evident that the whiskey interests have given up hope of winning the present election and expect to make ready for another bill in different form. The News has just received a letter from the "Balance Wheel," a liquor organ published at Kansas City in which the following statement is made:

"The management will very shortly flood the state of Oklahoma with copies of this magazine and place
agents in every section of the state.
The purpose of our work in your state will be to oppose prohibition strictly from a business standpoint, and as we will attempt to show, to the ultimate benefit of the citizens of Oklahoma. We want it distinctly understood that this magazine is not an organ of any brewer or brewers'
association—in fact it radically differs from many wholesalers and manufacturers."

The republicans were unable to force mixed schools on Oklahoma but they have succeeded in forcing mixed schools upon the people of New Mexico. The constitutional convention now in session at Santa Fe, has adopted a provision establishing mixed schools in that state. It has provided what is claimed to be a saving clause, that when ever two-thirds of the voters of any school district declare in favor of separate schools, that separate schools shall be established. But this exception, in view of the negroes desire for equality is absolutely meaningless. In every district where the negroes have the majority, or even one-third of the voters, they will prevent the establishment of separate schools.
Thus the republican recognition of social equality is clearly shown. The fate of New Mexico would have been the fate of Oklahoma if the republicans had only carried the state and had been given the power to write the state constitution. The people of Oklahoma are indebted to the state democracy for the separate school law now in force in the state.
A republican victory on the 8th of November would be a victory for negro equality.

It is a trifle amusing to look over the supplement distributed by the Republican state campaign committee
through the local papers of Oklahoma. One remark to the effect that Cruce signed as many railroad bonds as McNeal ever did is enough to give anyone an idea of the accuracy of the sheet. A fair sample, in fact.
We have the photographic proof of the fact that McNeal signed their bonds, so he no longer disputes it,
but all they have about Cruce is that McNeal said he heard somebody say so. Mc was evidently listening at his own key hole.

A large number of Republican papers comes to our exchange table, but not a line about voting for the best man regardless of party do we find in one of them published in a county where the Republicans have even a fighting chance to win. In those counties the advice is to vote er straight. It is only in Democratic counties that they put up that talk about voting for the man.

We have heard many tough things about bachelors, but it remains for a German legislator to cap the climax. He declares that a bachelor is not capable of voting intelligently and proposes to disfranchise that class altogether. If his notion prevails there will not even be a grandfather clause with a test of the old bach's qualifications.

LOOK OUT FOR TRICKS.

The republican leaders of the county have been keeping suspiciously quiet during the past few days, and it will not surprise us to see them pull off some sort of a surprise at the election tomorrow. It is very well for the democrats to keep ar-eye on them and catch on to what is up as soon as they spring it. The grandfather clause is a bitter morsel for them to swallow, but they will not mend matters by raising too much sand.

In the general absorption of papers and politicians in the governor's race one very important thing has been largely overlooked. That is the Bryan election law, passed by the legislature and referred by the Republicans. It should receive the vote of every Democrat.

Tomorrow will be a holiday, but not a Republican holiday such as prevailed throughout the union in 1907.

DONT SCRATCH

Say boys let's revise that Eagle
He's after our Rooster again;
They plucked the tail-feathers from him
In Republican Rock-ribbed Maine.
Then he left that land in a hurry
Thinking he might avoid pain,
But if any feathers have started
Oklahoma will pluck him again.

Yes, let's revise him downward
To the bottomless pit alone
I will write an epitaph for him
To paste on his lonely grave-stone

Election day soon will be with us
Don't idle your time away;
But get there bright and early
And work for Cruce all day.

Yes, he is the man of the hour
Having no bad deeds to conceal,
He is making you no false promises
Like the Honorable Joe McNeal.

Now boys don't be over-sanguine
Because you live out in the woods
You will stay at home and dig 'taters
The boys will deliver the goods.

But get there every man of you;
There's many schemes you can watch
And don't fail to stamp the Rooster
And vote without a scratch.

Fill the ballot box with Roosters
From the bottom to the latch;
The counters will have no trouble
When you vote without a scratch.

Yes, boys, be true to your families
The same as you would to your note.
Take a look at your railroad ticket
Before you go in to vote.

Now, I only haundle one ballot
I will see that it's not stamped wrong.
That's me—old Si Long.

well that he held a record breaking

HASKELL NAILS LATEST LIE

Oklahoma City, Nov. 7, 4:30 p. m.—The Standard Oil story run as a paid advertisement by the bunch of crooks at Guthrie dated as an old story of two years ago last August will be remembered by the people as the same story that was published by a prominent republican editor two years ago and for which I caused his arrest at that time and after full investigation and finding that the whole story was false that editor published in his news paper a complete retraction and apology. The fact that they dig up an old story long ago admitted to be a lie can only show that they have no truthful issues to present in this campaign. C. N. HASKELL.

The Banner for Pontotoc.

Pontotoc county is, so to speak, the country home of Lee Cruce, by which is not implied that the country abounds so much in rusticity; but this is meant: This community has always been so cordial to Cruce personally and so loyal to him politically that probably he would rather live in Ada than any where else—unless it be Ardmore. Considering the popularity here of our standard bearer, and the further fact that we have two distinguished fellow-citizens, viz: Judge Furman and W. H. L. Campbell, on the ticket, there is every reason why the vote Tuesday should show Pontotoc to be the banner democratic county.

In the election of 1907 Grady county returned the biggest majority, and Jackson county the biggest percentage democratic. The percentage test is the just one for determining the leader, for in that way the smallest county has a chance. Now, if Pontotoc democrats will just do their duty—that is, vote themselves and vote their neighbors, we can easily show the biggest percentage, and perhaps the biggest county majority. Such a result would be a source of local pride, and would give Pontotoc yet more prestige in the state organization, and, besides, the state committee might show its appreciation by giving us a drinking fountain for the court house, or an automobile band wagon, or some thing.

It's worth the effort. There only half a dozen counties in the Pontotoc class. Let's skin 'em all tomorrow.

Ada May Secure Noted Evangelist.

This afternoon Rev. Leroy Anderson showed us a letter from Rev. Chas. R. Scoville, the noted evangelist who is holding a great revival at Oklahoma City, to the effect that it might be possible for him to deliver a sermon at Ada some evening if the people desire him to come. As a result of his meeting at Oklahoma City there have been 502 additions to the Christian church there, 109 of which were made Sunday. The famous evangelist, Billy Sunday and J. Wilbur Chapman, pronounced Dr. Scoville the greatest single church evangelist living. We hope the people will take sufficient interest in this matter to extend him an invitation to come.

Veterans Endorse A. M. Crow.

The Confederate veterans held a good meeting yesterday afternoon. Among other things that came up was a resolution endorsing Gen. A. M. Crow for superintendent of the Confederate home at Ardmore. Of course he secured the unanimous endorsement of the camp. It would give us pleasure to see him appointed, for he is not only well qualified for the place, but will also give close attention to his duties and will make a success of the work if he is entrusted with it.

KEEP OUT ILLEGAL VOTES

Oklahoma City, Nov. 7, 4:30 p. m.—Democratic Committee, Ada, Okla.: In event affidavits are presented by negroes falling under the grandfather clause requirements and forced in box without their qualifying where there are large number of white voters have man keep accurate count of such negro votes and in canvass deduct them. In large negro precincts if the law cannot be enforced by reading and writing a section of the constitution close the polls. Allow no such votes placed in the ballot box. Enforce the law. FRED P. BRANSON.

EXPLANATION FROM THE OKLAHOMAN

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 7. To the Readers of the Oklahoman: In order that the readers of the Oklahoman may not be misled or deceived by an advertisement appearing in our columns yesterday morning in which it is charged that Gov. Haskell has been dominated by the Standard Oil interests I desire to say that the Oklahoman does not now and never has believed this charge, that there is absolutely no evidence showing the same, and that it is published and peddled at this time for no other purpose than to confuse and befuddle the voter and lead him astray. The advertisement was paid for by the republican congressional committee of the second district and is inserted at this late date in order to prevent by limitation of time a complete refutation of the charge embodied therein I make this statement after reading the advertisement as printed this morning in order that our readers may understand that the Oklahoman gives absolutely no credence to the statements contained in the advertisement.

Summer-Carney.

This morning about 10:30, Mr. Earl Summer and Miss Maudena Carney were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Carney, Rev. J. D. White, officiating. The happy young couple left via the Katy for Fort Worth, Dallas and other Texas points where they will spend about a week on their wedding tour.

The bride has grown to young womanhood in Ada. We first knew her as a school girl and even then she was a favorite among her schoolmates. Two years ago she graduated with honors from the Ada High school. Afterwards she became a very popular teacher and graduated at the normal last spring. Ada is noted for its fine girls and she has always ranked with the best.

The fortunate groom holds the responsible position of assistant postmaster, a position that brings him in contact with the general public more than almost any other man in Ada. His uniform courtesy and business-like manner of handling his work has made him the most popular man who has ever held that place. We join the many friends of the young people in wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Cruce Offers a Good Suggestion.

This morning in thanking the normal boys for their courtesy in pulling his carriage from the hotel to the city hall, Mr. Cruce stated that he would be pleased to have the same team of young democrats pull his carriage on inaugural day Jan. 9. The News would be highly pleased to see that very thing done. It would be a fine compliment to one of the strongest friends of education in Oklahoma, and a man who has always been deservedly popular with the citizens of Pontotoc county.

OKLAHOMA NOTES

A successful county fair has just closed at Atoka. The promoters will hold another next year even better than the one just closed.

Duke, one of the pioneer horses at Ponca City, died several days ago. He was game to the last, however, and died with his shoes on.

The charges against the contractors in the building of the McAlester penitentiary ought to have some foundation having been made by a bishop.

Turkeys at Tulsa this Thanksgiving will cost from 23 to 25c a pound. But the good old Arkansas river is filled with catfish that may be had for the catching.

Dustin Farnum, the actor made a bit at McAlester by saying that the Busby opera house was one of the coziest he ever saw outside of a city of 100,000 inhabitants.

L. J. Weatherax of Sapulpa while hunting in the Tiger mountains in the Creek Nation saw five deer four miles east of Checotah on Deep Fork river and ran into a big flock of wild turkeys.

The Interior Department has ruled that bonding companies in eastern Oklahoma oil fields shall not be accepted as security on new leases if they are delinquent in their payments on old leases. Oil men complain that the ruling will cripple the oil industry.

The Muskogee Phoenix tells of a Republican newspaper editor in Oklahoma who is postmaster of the town and whose newspaper has "not had a single editorial during the campaign that has been reproduced or that was worth reproducing." Naturally the Phoenix believes that such fellows should not be rewarded with office merely because they own a newspaper.

Allen Cotton Shipments

The shipment of cotton out of Allen shows 228 bales more up to October 31st than for the corresponding period last year. Of the 1925 bales shipped out, 1625 bales were received during October, only 300 bales coming in up to September 30, while on October 1st last year 875 bales had been received. On October 20th, 1909 the receipts were 1400 bales, with 1700 bales for the same date in 1910.—Allen Hustler.

Challenges McNeal.

At this point he again made the offer to McNeal to withdraw from the race if it could be shown that Cruce had signed a bond any time in his life for a railroad company, provided McNeal would do likewise in case he failed to prove it. McNeal has never shown any relish for this.

He enumerated the following important measures which McNeal has opposed: Initiative and referendum; direct primary, corporation commission, eight hour law, fellow servant law, child labor law, grandfather clause, separate schools.

Will Be Governor.

He paid his respects to the charges that he will be dominated by others if elected. While open to suggestions from the humblest citizen of the state, he would promise now that the first man who tried to dictate to him would find himself in trouble. He mentioned half a dozen whom the republicans at various times declared would rule him, but promised that a different tale will be told when he is elected.

McNeal's Negro Record.

He paid some attention to McNeal's negro record. Two years ago McNeal supported and helped to nominate a negro for the legislature, although his opponent was as honorable white man as there is in the state. This year the performance was repeated. The same thing was true in the race for commissioner. McNeal supported the negro and turned his back on the white man.

Advice to Negro Voters.

Muskogee, Ok., Nov. 6.—Acting under instructions from Republican State Chairman James Harris and the local county chairman every negro preacher in Muskogee, Wagoner, Creek and Okfuskee counties, at their regular church services today, urged every negro who is able to read or write, every negro who has white or Indian blood in his veins and every negro who was not a slave or descendant of slaves to go to the polls Tuesday and try to vote. If they are not permitted to vote they are to get home without making trouble of any kind. This is done, it is understood to lay grounds for a contest in case some negroes, who are believed to be eligible to vote, are disfranchised by the election inspectors.

Fearing trouble, the republicans of Creek county asked United States Marshal Grant Victor to send deputies to each of the precincts in that county on election day. Application was also made for deputies in other counties in the so-called black belt. The Marshal refused their request on the ground that he had no jurisdiction in state elections and there was no law giving him authority to take such action.

The story that state troops will be held in readiness at Muskogee in case of trouble was evidently published for political effect. Officers of the local militia say they have no orders to that effect. While some trouble may develop on election day statements by both Gov. Haskell and J. L. Fore, local republican chairman are to the effect that every thing will be done to avoid it.

A CALL TO MOTHERS

Mothers, you who desire state wide prohibition, we ask for your presence at the city hall tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock as you can come, to assist in parading the children, serving lunch, or doing anything you can to help influence the voters against the proposed constitutional amendment for high license and local option.

Marshall Shot and Killed.

Madill, Okla., Nov. 6.—Today just after the noon hour Jim Thompson killed J. T. Pratt, the city marshal with a Winchester rifle. Thompson at once appropriated a horse and buggy standing near and made his get-away. A posse of officers and armed citizens is scouring the country for him and it is believed that he will not be brought back alive. Mr. Pratt leaves a family. He was an efficient officer and was well liked. The shooting occurred just as services were being closed at the different churches. Sympathy is strong for the family of the deceased.

NEW YORK HERALD PREDICTS DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

New York, Nov. 5.—The Herald, the only New York newspaper which this year follows the old custom of making definite political forecasts, predicts the election of John A. Dix by 50,000; Harmon in Ohio by between 70,000 and 80,000; Wilson in New Jersey by upwards of 7,000 and the defeat of Judge Baldwin in Connecticut. It also predicts that the house of representatives will go democratic by 217 as against 174 republicans.

U. S. Russell With Lee Cruce.

Accompanying Mr. Cruce on his campaign here was U. S. Russell, a well known newspaper man. Mr. Russell was at one time editor of the Shawnee Herald. He has always been a prominent figure in Oklahoma politics, and in newspaper circles.

NEW NEWS OF YESTERDAY

Prophecy Made in Cloak Room That Was Fulfilled.

General Garfield's Velled Prediction of His Own Nomination for Presidency Just Before Starting to the Convention.

BY E. J. EDWARDS.

The late John H. Starin, who might have been governor of New York had he been willing to accept a nomination in the late 80s, and who was for some years a member of congress from one of the New York districts, was esteemed by business men as one of the ablest of American men of affairs. He accumulated a very large fortune, was prominent in civic affairs, and to him the city of New York owes a debt of gratitude for his services in adding to establish the subway rapid transit system.

"During a part of the time that I was in congress," said Mr. Starin to me several years before his death, which occurred in 1909, "my seat in the house of representatives was adjacent to that of James A. Garfield. We became very warm friends, and I conceived so great an admiration of his ability that year or two before the presidential conventions of 1880 I had come to hold the opinion that General Garfield was in many respects the most available candidate from the west for the republicans to nominate for the presidency. Of course, later on, as the delegate from my own state to the Republican convention, I was bound to support the nomination of General Grant. But I had a lurking feeling that if we could not nominate Grant, Garfield would be our man."

"It so happened that both General Garfield and I planned independently to go from Washington to Chicago to attend the convention by the same train. Garfield was chairman of the Ohio delegation, which had been instructed to support the nomination of John Sherman. We were greatly pleased when we discovered that we were to take the same train. "We both were in the house of representatives the morning of the day we were to leave for Chicago. Rather late in the afternoon Garfield turned to me, and said: 'Starin, it is time for us to start. My gripack is in the cloak room, and I suppose yours is also. Let's go together from the capitol to the railway station, and we'll keep company all the way to Chicago.'"

"As I was taking my hat and my gripack from the attendant in the cloak room, I heard some one say to Garfield—I do not now remember who it was, except that it was a Democrat: 'Garfield, whom are you going to nominate for president at the convention? You don't expect to nominate Sherman, do you? And we Democrats figure that Blaine and Grant will neutralize each other's votes.'"

"In reply Garfield said: 'I am to nominate Sherman in behalf of the state of Ohio. Of course we all hope that he will be nominated by the convention.'"

"But whom are you going to nominate, Garfield?" persisted the Democrat. "I remember perfectly how Garfield looked when that question was repeated to him. He turned half around, there was a cordial smile upon his face—one that was characteristic of him—and then he said: 'I don't know. It's very likely to be some one not now named. It is just as likely to be myself as anybody else.'"

"I was mightily impressed by that reply. It confirmed my own impression that Garfield might be our candidate; I had already said to one or two friends: 'We can't nominate Grant, Blaine cannot be nominated, and in my opinion Garfield will be the man.' And I am satisfied that at the time Garfield left Washington for Chicago in my company he had reasoned the situation out exactly as I had done."
